Mysterious, mystical even esoteric, the name of this Parisian band performing at the crossroads of trip-hop, atmospheric metal-indus and dark ambient corresponds to its intriguing and striking music.

Indeed, laamdatun has been for three years now blending a sophisticated musical cocktail, taking a cunning pleasure in interweaving cold and beats of the machines, the sharpness of the guitars and the ethereal sensuality of the melodies. The compositions of the group appear somber, strange and stupefying even ecstatic but always worrying.

The introspective and feverish lyrics accentuate the demons of each of the members of the group recollecting pain, regret, dependency, running away, evasion, solitude, bitterness, sorrow or fleeting time obsession.

In the spirit of artistic collective and in a approach involving research and experimentation, each of the musicians develops his ideas on different instruments. A maturity, rare and surprising in such a young group, arises from the diversity of these four strong musical personalities.

Going against the flow, outside the boundaries of fashion, diabolically independent, laamdatun invites the listener on a real journey of the senses.

So let yourself be swept away and enter the trance !
